CALIFORNIA MEDICAL ASSOCIATION FOUNDATION

History

The California Medical Association Foundation has been in operation since 1963. In 1995, the Foundation was restructured to create a diverse board of physician and nonphysician members. The mission statement of the Foundation is: “The CMA Foundation, a partnership of leaders in medicine, related health professions and community, supports advances in individual and community health.” Activities have focused in the areas of community health, tobacco education, ethnic medical societies and managed care. The Foundation is positioned to best serve as the bridge linking physicians and their communities.

Foundation Goals

1. Build the capacity of physicians and physician organizations to work collaboratively to improve health.
2. Create a climate that acknowledges the importance and value of physician involvement in efforts to build healthy communities.
3. Provide leadership in cutting edge, emerging health issues thus enabling physicians to practice the best care possible.
4. Serve as a convener of varying stakeholder groups to address critical health issues.
5. Strengthen the ability of physicians to work with diverse communities.

Services & Programs

In order to fulfill our mission and goals, the Foundation is engaged in a number of programs which create opportunities for physicians to work with others to improve health in California. These programs address both community health issues as well as efforts to improve the infrastructure of key physician organizations. Programs and projects led by the Foundation include –

-- AWARE [Alliance Working for Antibiotic Resistance Education] – Both a physician and consumer education campaign involving over 70 community partners to reduce the inappropriate use of antibiotics. www.aware.md

-- Women’s Health Initiative – Designed to assist physician and women’s organizations to improve their ability to achieve success; our focus began with women over 50. We continue to develop education materials for both physician and community-based organizations on the prevention, screening, and treatment of osteoporosis.

-- Ethnic Physicians Project – Designed to strengthen the infrastructure of ethnic physician organizations enabling them to more effectively address the challenges in healthcare for ethnic communities such as health disparities, access to care, and diversity in the healthcare workforce. www.ethnicphysicians.org.

-- Type 2 Diabetes and Obesity in Children – The initiative brings together physicians and health provider organizations, public health agencies, the school community, parent and consumer groups, and community-based organizations. It works across the continuum of care including prevention, screening diagnosis, and treatment components, additionally seeking to reduce health disparities.

INSTITUTE FOR MEDICAL QUALITY

The Institute for Medical Quality (IMQ) is a non-profit subsidiary incorporated in January 1996. Its mission is to be an innovative leader in improving the quality of care provided to patients across the continuum of health care by encouraging, developing, and implementing programs which effectively measure and improve the quality of care provided to people in California and beyond. Its current programs include Accreditation and Licensure Programs for Acute Care Hospitals, Ambulatory Care Accreditation Program, (including Surgicenters, Medical Groups, and Student Health Facilities), Adult and Juvenile Detention Facility Accreditation Programs, Continuing Medical Education (CME) Accreditation and Certification Programs, and Accreditation of Independent Entities which review treatment denials by health plans. Under a grant from CHCF, IMQ is researching the impact certain legislation had on the quality of external reviews. IMQ conducts numerous seminars, medical staff and peer review consultations for a variety of facilities and organizations. These include educational programs about medical staff issues, CME, medical ethics and current health care issues.
